There is a virus called Covid-19 that makes people sick.

I like to keep myself healthy.

One way to keep myself healthy is to practice social distancing when I go outside.

Social Distancing is distance I need to keep myself from others when I am outside.

Social Distancing

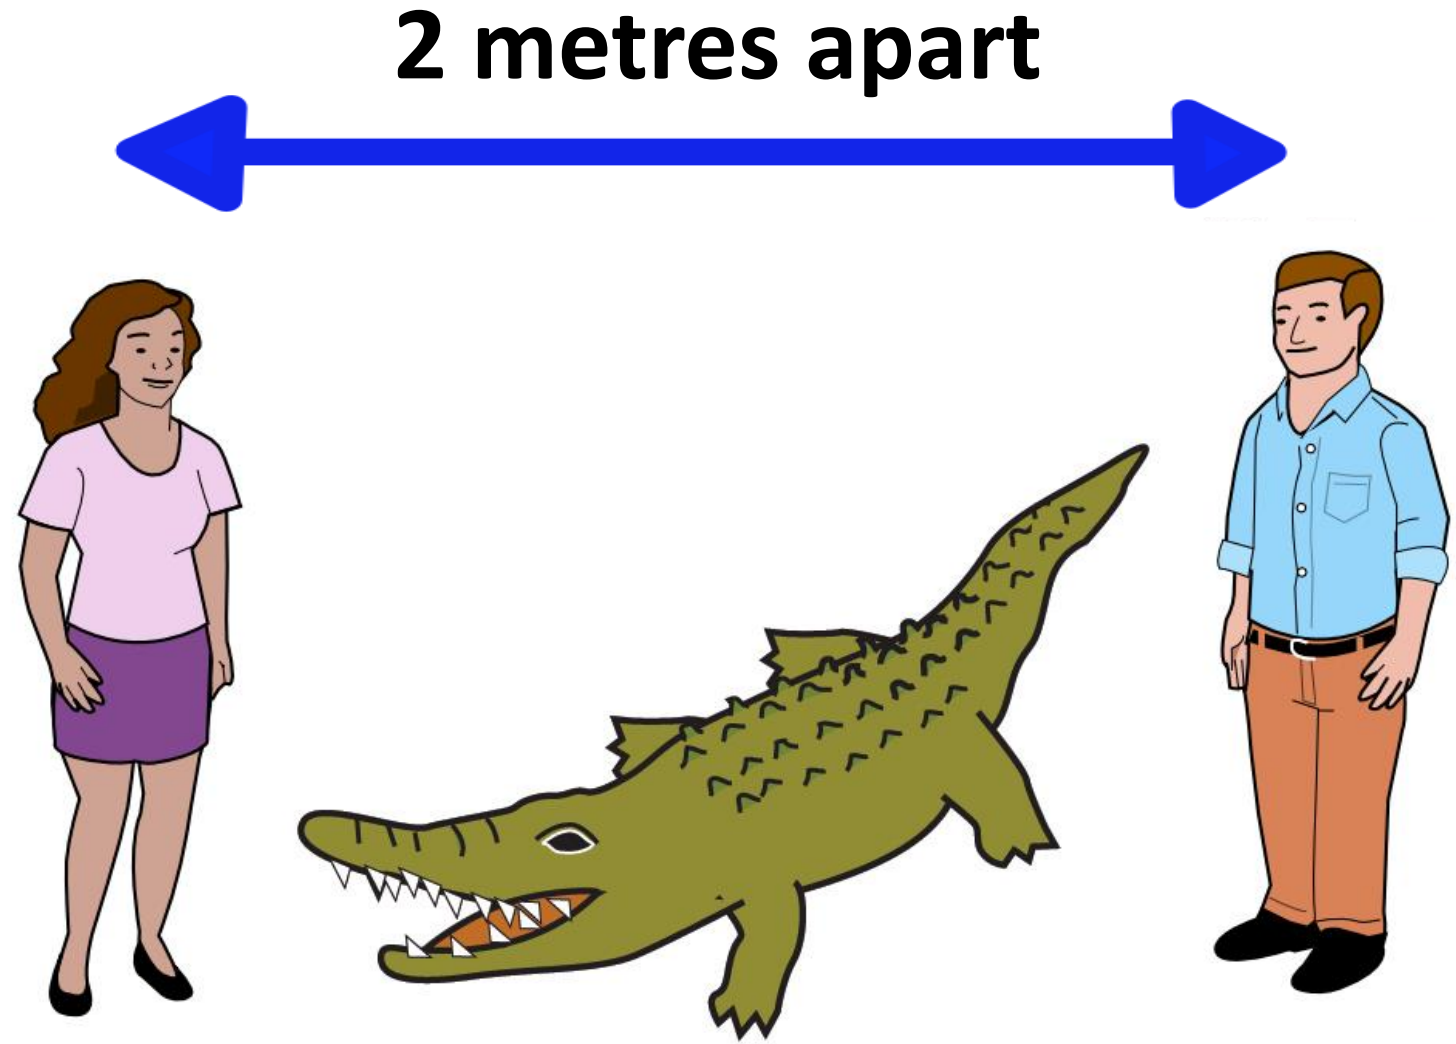

2 metres apart

2 metres is about the distance if a polar bear was between me and my friend.

It's about the length of a crocodile, if it was between me and my friend.

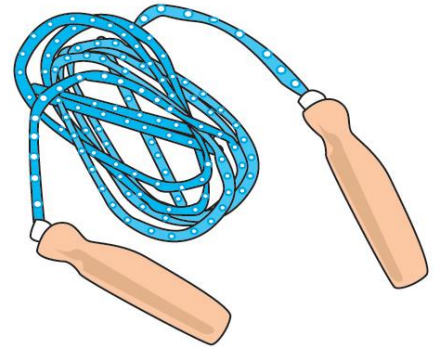

It's like having a panda bear between me and my friend.

I can practice social distancing at home with my family using a tape measure or a jump rope to find out how far 2 metres is.

Practicing social distance when going out is important and it will help keep me healthy.
